RED CROSS CHAPTER PLANS A CAMPAIGN FOR MORE MEMBERS

Executive Board of Janesville Organization Will Exert Efforts to Arouse Local Interest.

Preparations for a vigorous canvass for an increased membership in the local chapter of the American Red Cross was begun on Tuesday at the meeting of the executive board, held at five o'clock in the rooms of the Commercial Club. It is expected that the room in the City Hall previously used as the council chamber will be utilized as a meeting place for work. The plan will be presented at the different meetings of the women's organizations of the city, and new members recruited from their ranks, as far as possible. Polders and other literature will also be issued, explaining the outline of work and bringing the plan before the public as far as possible. Information can be secured on these subjects from Peter V. Kuhn, the secretary of the local movement.

Miss Sara Richardson, Mrs. Bosworth, Miss Gertrude Cobb, Mrs. S. M. Smith and Mrs. Francis Grant were made a committee to secure the cooperation of the women in the movement. The president, H. S. Lovejoy, is favorably impressed at the interest shown in the organization of the local chapter and is quite sure of a loyal and valuable factor in the National work of the movement. Miss Sara Richardson is in charge of the committee for the surgical dressing work and Mrs. Wm. Bosworth heads that on first aid, while Dr. Frank Van Kirk has donated his services for lectures. The board of executives of the local chapter consist of H. S. Lovejoy, H. M. Whitehead, J. E. Wertendyke and Peter V. Kuhn, with the following ladies: Mrs. Bosworth, Miss Gertrude Cobb and Miss Sara Richardson.

FINED FOR PEDDLING CIGARETTE PAPERS

Tobacco Company Representative Distributed Tobacco and Papers Without a License.

A. E. Drummond, representative of the Liggett & Meyers Tobacco Company, and in charge of a crew of distributors of free packages of a well known brand of prepared weed, was fined $25 and costs, $27.40, in municipal court this morning for giving away cigarette papers without a license, a violation of state statutes. The warrant was issued by Chief of Police E. D. Champion, after a first ward man telephoned City Clerk J. P. Hammarlund yesterday and asked him if there was not a law against the giving away of "cigarette papers." A police search in the ward gathered in one of the distributors and when District Attorney Stanley G. Dunwiddie was informed of the matter he decided that Drummond should be made the defendant. He was arrested this morning.

In court he told how his company had instructed its agents to give the samples, which were given in in envelopes, only to adults in their house to house distribution. He claimed that he had instructed his helpers to do this and that they had been considerably taken back when Judge Maxfield halted the case with "Wait a minute," and walked into his private office. Returning, he held in his hand one of the samples. "I got this at my back door," he said. "And you fellows have been throwing them around promiscuously."

Drummond and tobacco samples today, but each package was opened and the cigarette papers removed.

JANESVILLE GIRL BRIDE
RECEIVED INTO SOCIETY OF NORTH CAROLINA CITY

Mrs. Anthony J. Gocking, formerly Miss Frances Child of this city, has been most cordially received into the society of Charlotte, North Carolina, her husband's home, according to word received by her relatives in this city. Upon Mr. and Mrs. Gocking's return from their wedding journey they were entertained at a dinner party at the home of Mr. Gocking, their brother, leaders in the Charlotte society circles. Covers were laid for fifteen.

Following their marriage, at Baltimore, Md., Mr. and Mrs. Gocking started on a motor trip, intending to make the journey from Baltimore to Charlotte by automobile. Roads were found to be in impassable condition in portions of Virginia, so that it was necessary for them to abandon their plans. Mr. Gocking is manager of the Queen City Printing company at Charlotte.

ASTRONOMICAL DATA FOR PRESENT MONTH

Mercury and Venus are both morning stars. The former reaches greatest elongation west Feb. 12, but still will be too low to the southeast for favorable observation, while Venus is too close to the sun to be conspicuous. Mars will be passed by the sun Feb. 28 because of the latter's greater motion eastward. The planet will then begin rising with the sun, but its emergence to visibility in the morning sky will be very slow. Jupiter and Saturn are conspicuous in the evening sky. The former is the brightest star to the west but is now at a rather low altitude, and by the close of the month will set in the late evening. Saturn is seen to the east, nearly in line with the twin stars, Castor and Pollux, and reaches the meridian not far south of the zenith in the late evening.

The times of sunrise and sunset for the month are as follows:

Sunrise	Sunset
Feb. 1 7:14	5:10
Feb. 11 7:02	5:23
Feb. 21 6:47	5:36
Feb. 28 6:31	5:45

The times of the moon's phases are:

Full moon, Feb. 6, 9:28 p. m.
Last quarter, Feb. 14, 6:53 p. m.
New moon, Feb. 21, 12:03 p. m.
First quarter, Feb. 28, 10:44 a. m.

The principal fixed stars visible during the month in the evening hours are as follows: To the west, Capella, Aldebaran, and the Pleiades; near the meridian, Sirius and the bright stars of the constellation of Orion; to the east, Procyon, Regulus, and Castor and Pollux.

U. S. HAS 290 SHIPS READY FOR SERVICE

Two hundred and ninety war vessels of all kinds and sizes, ranging from the dreadnaughts carrying 16-inch guns capable of striking a shell weighing a ton more than ten miles, to the little 500-ton submarines, are in commission in the United States Navy.

The Atlantic fleet, which is the greatest in the history of the government, is now mobilized at Guantanamo the government's naval base on the south coast of Cuba, and can sail immediately for any point. It has always been contended that in case of war the United States would lack an auxiliary service, which would be provided only through a mercantile marine, but in the present emergency it is felt this embarrassment is not apt to be faced. It is known the government will seize the 106 German ships which are interned in the ports of the United States and its possessions, if war comes. These merchant ships are valued at more than $100,000,000.

BRIEF LOCAL NEWS.

E. F. U. Thursday Night: A regular meeting of the E. F. U. Fraternity will be held Thursday evening at Caledonia rooms. All members are requested to be present. Card games and refreshments are on the program. A number of applicants will be voted on to be initiated at the March meeting, at which time it is expected to take in a class of twenty-five. At this time the families and friends will be invited. E. O. Smith, secretary.

Transferred to Detroit: Arthur W. Campbell, who for the past eight years has been Janesville agent for the Schlitz Brewing company, has been transferred to Detroit, Michigan. He will be succeeded here by S. A. Steller of Madison.

Hearing: A hearing was held in municipal court this morning in the garnishment action of the Bower City Bank against St. Mary's congregation. Judge Maxfield will decide the case later.

Presbyterian Church: The mid-week prayer meeting will be conducted by the Rev. Mr. Stemon, our stated supply pastor. Come and get acquainted with him, Thursday night at 7:30 P. M.

W. C. T. U. Meeting: The W. C. T. U. of the home of Mrs. A. W. Athon, Highland avenue, Wednesday afternoon. After a devotional meeting an important business session followed. A brief mothers' meeting program, prepared by Mrs. Mary M. Palmer followed. A poem, "That First Day of School," by Lee Shipley, and "An Open Letter to Mothers and Teachers" were well received. Light refreshments were served.

WANTS FULL CHANGE OF WISCONSIN LAWS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Madison, Wis., Feb. 7.—That the present European war is the growth of a demand for a change in the fundamental laws of Europe and that this change will be made regardless of which side wins, was the statement made yesterday afternoon by Governor State Senator J. J. Blaine of Boscobel before the senate judiciary committee, in his argument for such a convention to vote of the people. T. C. Richmond of Madison appeared in opposition to the proposal.

The debate was over a bill offered by Senator Chicago of River Falls asking for a submission of the question to a vote of the people in November, 1918.

"The proposal here is to take the fundamental law of Wisconsin and tear it to pieces," said Mr. Richmond. "It would require many years of the courts to interpret the new constitution as it has the old one. Lawyers would have to learn much of their work over. The old constitution was framed by able men. There is no need of a change. The papers and the people are not asking for a change. If this state should attempt to make a new constitution it would cost $500,000, as it did in Ohio."

Senator Blaine said that the demand for a new constitution was shown in the increasing number of constitutional amendments of the legislature. He said that the constitution makers of nearly one hundred years ago could not see the changes that were to come. He said that the house legislature and said that the house should be held responsible and not the governor. He was opposed to the idea of placing so much power in the hands of the governor, and said that with one house it could do many of the things done by commissions and the cost of government would be increased. He said he was opposed to rigid conditions and said that slaves might have been emancipated peacefully had the United States not been less rigid. O. D. Brandenburg, of the bill and Assemblyman Metcalf favored it.

OBITUARY.

Miss Alma Paschell.
Announcement of the death of Miss Alma Paschell, which occurred this morning at half past six at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Paschell, 122 Cherry street, will bring deep sorrow into the many Janesville homes where she has won a place in the hearts of her friends. Though she has been a resident of Janesville for two years, her entire life has been spent in this vicinity, and her associations here have been many. Miss Paschell won unusual popularity because of her cheerful and sunny nature; even during the last two years when she has been an almost constant sufferer, her interest in those about her has never waned.

Miss Paschell was born April 8, 1895, in the town of Janesville, and had there spent the greater part of her life. She was a member of St. Paul's German Evangelical Lutheran church.

She is survived by her parents, by three brothers—Emanuel, Frank, William of the town of Janesville, and by four sisters—Mrs. Mary, Mrs. John, Mrs. Charles, Mrs. Albert, Mrs. John, Mrs. Emil, Mrs. Wilkie, of the town of Janesville.

The funeral announcement will be made later.

Mrs. Stella Douglas.
The funeral of Mrs. Stella Douglas was held this morning at nine o'clock from the home, 917 Milton avenue. The Reverend Raymond G. Pierson of the First Baptist church conducted the services. The funeral party left Janesville at ten forty for Brodhead where interment will be made.

Mrs. Lucille Kahlo Faulkner.
The body of Mrs. Lucille Kahlo Faulkner was taken to Evanston, Illinois this afternoon at 3:10. Funeral services will be conducted in that city tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock from the Hebblethwaites chapel. Interment will be in the Evanston cemetery.

Thirty Days: Charles Hager, a blacksmith, on charges of vagrancy and drunkenness, was given thirty days in the county jail by Judge H. L. Maxfield in municipal court this morning.

Attention Boy Scouts: Troops 1, 2, and 3 will meet Friday night instead of Saturday night.

TUESDAY'S MARKETS.

Hog trades opened 10c higher yesterday and strengthened as the session progressed, the bulk selling at $12.15 to $12.45. Demand for hogs late in the morning was 25c up. Only pigs and trashy light hogs sold below $12, the bulk of the hog supply making $12.20 to $12.45. Several sales were made at $12.50, including 175 lbs. single.

Cattle trade was steady; butcher stock firm to higher. The advance car report suggested only 15,000 to 16,000 cattle for today.

Fair supplies of hogs appeared at the Chicago market, but western markets, and packers backed away from Monday's record prices, heavy lambs selling 15@25c lower and heavy and low dressing sorts 25@35c down. The best sold at $14.00. Good sheep and yearlings sold steady, others tending lower.

Receipts for today are estimated at 16,000 cattle, 35,000 hogs and 17,000 sheep, against 15,331 cattle, 47,647 hogs and 9,497 sheep a year ago.

Average price of hogs at Chicago yesterday was $12.33, against $12.15 Monday, $11.69 a year ago, and $8.31 a year ago $6.78 two years ago.

Heavy Steers Active.
Weighty steers got good action at firm prices. While light stuff was slow but steady. A load of 1,500-lb. bullocks reached $12.25. Butcher cattle sold steady to higher and at the high point of the year, while a miniature veal calf supply sold fully 50c higher and back close to record prices.

SALVATION ARMY IN APPEAL FOR CLOTHES

Demand for Clothing Becomes Especially Insistent As Result of Severe Winter Weather.

Adjutant J. H. Connor of the local Salvation Army makes the following appeal for clothing which is especially in demand at this time on account of the severe winter weather: "We have many calls for clothing that we are not able to supply. Men, women's and children's clothing is needed. If you have any clothes stored away in your closets that you do not use, hunt them up and let us have them while the weather is cold and they will be of great service to the more unfortunate class. We are urgently in need of infants' clothing. We know of one expected arrival where there has been no provision made in the line of clothing, that should be attended to right away. If you have anything in that line call up the Salvation Army, phone 1, Bell Rock county black 330, and we will be glad to call and get whatever you have to spare."

U. S. OFFERS FRANCE CHAMPAGNE BOTTLES; WHY SHOULDN'T IT?

Parsi, Feb. 7.—The Viceroy of Champagne, organ of the Champagne district, recently announced that champagne bottles were being offered in France by American glassmakers. Heretofore, says the paper, America has not made champagne bottles. Moreover their price of shipment to Europe would be so high as to leave but little profit. The Viceroy of Champagne now affirms after inquiry that these so-called American bottles really are "German make, adding, "they are made in Germany at Oerscheim, near Dusseldorf, in the glass works of F. Heyes. A trip to the United States, even to Cuba, the time to change nationality, and the risk is played. Holland had already offered these same bottles."

JOINTLY the price and style will please you. My bracelet watches are distinctive ornaments and reliable time pieces. I positively guarantee you the service and quality you are looking for.

Everyone Knows this Kidney Medicine Is Good

I have been in the drug business for thirty-five years and I have sold Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root satisfactorily as long as I can remember. I have never heard of an unfavorable comment but have heard of several cases of kidney, liver and bladder ailments where Swamp-Root produced beneficial results. Judging from personal experience I can say that I believe it to be a very good medicine and I recommend it.

Very truly yours,
C. STEINER, Druggist,
208 South 12th St.
Lincoln, Nebraska.

Prove What Swamp-Root Will Do For You.

A medical preparation like Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, that has real practice value almost sells itself. Like an endless chain system the remedy is recommended by those who have been benefited to those who are in need of it.

Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is a physician's prescription. It has been tested for years and has brought results to countless numbers who have suffered. The success of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root is due to the fact that it fulfills almost every wish in overcoming kidney, liver and bladder diseases, corrects urinary troubles and neutralizes the uric acid which causes rheumatism. It costs ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y. for a sample size bottle. It will convince anyone. You will also receive a booklet of valuable information, telling about the kidneys and bladder. When writing, be sure to mention the Janesville Daily Gazette. Regular fifty-cent and one-dollar bottles for sale at all drug stores.

Milton Junction News

Milton Junction, Feb. 7.—The big storms of the past week, with the usual delay of trains, calls to mind the winter of the big snow some thirty-five years ago. At that time Milton Junction was the transfer point for a large number of passengers, the St. Paul road not having a Chicago line. For two weeks about fifty men with snowplow engines and engines to pull them out. The superintendent of each road telegraphed for supper for their men and Mr. Stetson of the Morgan house said he could only furnish a meal for one crew—the others would have to take crackers and coffee. Employees of the St. Paul and Northwestern were sent out to notify the crews. The St. Pauls were about three miles west and the Northwestern three miles north. Then the race began. At the north end of the St. Paul's most fearless engineers, was at the throttle, and Al. Sellock of Janesville, who had a superb record on the Northwestern, controlled the snow plow engine at the north. The snow plow engine with an engine coupled on behind would take a run at a drift, the snowplow would dig them out, and a third engine would pull them clear. The Northwestern, with many crowing of whistles, were seated at the table when the St. Pauls had in.

CONCENTRATION.
In this day and age of efficiency and concentration of the surplus energies of the business world, the question arises, why does not the city of Janesville concentrate its two downtown stations in one building? It would appear that much better efforts might result from such a plan and the bringing together of the apparatus under one roof would increase its efficiency.

In the days when the fire department was forced to rely upon horse power to haul its trucks and fire apparatus to and from the blazes the two stations were separate and distinct. But today, with the installation of the motor-driven machines this vanishes and in the interests of efficiency of the fire department it would not be best to concentrate the headquarters in one house, the West Side station, No. 1, being larger, would doubtless be chosen.

The objection which would doubtless be raised to this suggestion would be that it would leave the East Side station vacant. In answer to this, the fact must be driven home that it is only a matter of time when the state authorities will order the removal of the present city hall location from its present unsanitary location in the basement of the city hall to some other quarters. It would take but a small cost to remodel the No. 2 fire station into a police station, with accommodation for the police patrol as well.

Of course when the order comes to change the location of the police department at the city hall could be erected on the building adjacent to the city hall structure at considerable expense, while by the concentration of the two fire stations into one, this expense could be avoided and would be a material saving.

A second objection that might be raised is that it would leave the East Side station without ample fire protection. This would have been true in the days of the horse apparatus, but it is absurd to consider it with the motor-driven machines. They are a scanty drive from each other as it is noted in the West Side house, so it would mean but the removal of one more piece of apparatus at most.

This is worthy of consideration and the idea is submitted to the city commissioners for their consideration. In this modern day every business man seeks the best methods for efficiency and the concentration of the two branches of the department under one roof and the utilization of the No. 2 house for a police station that would be sanitary is worth thought. Meanwhile the present police department in the city hall could be utilized to good advantage by the street commissioners' department and the look-up room by the fire engineer. As it is, both these departments are crowded and this would obviate other changes in the hall proper.

WHY PROTEST?

It is a strange story that comes from Madison that objection is made to the great state of Wisconsin sending its ward of cheer and encouragement with a promise of support, to the national government at Washington in the crisis that confronts this whole nation. It is smaller than petty ward politics and it is to be hoped the nation in the legislature will rise above the bickerings of the disgruntled politician who seeks political capital by a grandstand play of this kind. If war is declared Wisconsin will be called upon to do its share and its citizens will be expected to remember they are Americans and not foreigners. They threw off the collar of servitude when they took the oath of allegiance to the United States and this is not a time to forget the obligation they swore to. Stop delay and pass the endorsement and be done with such foolishness. It is not befitting the great state of Wisconsin to quibble over details. Her national honor is at stake. It is not a personal approval of the action of the President that is sought, but of the government which he represents. Be men and not cringing politicians.

POETIC JUSTICE.

General Pershing and his brave soldiers have arrived on American soil. They have emulated the King of France, who marched ten thousand men up the hill and then marched them down again, or the marines who went into Vera Cruz and then after cleansing up the city, retired, bringing the dead with them. General Pershing retires because the government at Washington has so ordered. They have made different arrangements with Carranza for the capture of Villa and they trust Carranza implicitly.

Now the president of the United States, Senator Carranza's warm friend and admirer, has severed diplomatic relations with Germany and the United States is on the brink of more than a diplomatic break. What does our president expect him to do? Does he immediately offer to support his friend the president? Does he instruct his soldiers to salute the stars and stripes? What does he do?

Why Senator Carranza immediately sits down and pens a note of congratulation to the German emperor. What else would you expect him to do? It is simply poetic justice that it should turn out this way, but really down in Washington it is doubtful if the poetry of Carranza's note to Germany is fully appreciated. Perhaps some of the boys who "did their bit on the border" might enlighten them, however, if they still remain dense on the subject.

No, sir, Carranza did not waste a minute after Pershing had left Mexican soil to add another insult to the long list already credited to Mexico as regards the United States. It was an opportunity not to be overlooked and he must be chuckling behind his whiskers to think how it really cuts and hurts those who trusted him so implicitly.

THE MIGRATORY WORKERS.

The American Council of Migratory Workers of the World are to have a convention at Buffalo, date is not just determined, as some of the members have to contend with the deplorable delays in freight service. Also the walking isn't good in winter. It seems strange that the railroads are so indifferent to the defects in the service rendered this class whom some are calling the gentlemen tramp.

The migratory workers seem to take themselves seriously. They call themselves the reserve labor supply, which always has to be drawn upon for accumulations of work. Crops would never be harvested but for them.

Much can be said for the migratory worker. Seasonal work makes a desperate struggle in labor supply. If it were not for this great army of drifters, floating from the wheat fields to the snow shovel gang, a great deal of the world's work would remain undone. Even if these men should leave trades how on earth would the peak of the seasonal jobs be passed?

But unevenness of employment is one of our great industrial evils. The long periods of idleness demoralize the seasonal workers. With a bit of reserve earned on the harvest field those of a roving nature are tempted to indulge their wanderlust. Thus there grows up a vast class, part working, part idling, on the border line between industry and vagrancy.

Part time workers are a real source of human capital lying half idle. Machinery will have to be depended on to perform much of the seasonal work now handled by the roving immigrants. With all the farms well equipped with labor-saving devices, the annual call for harvest hands would be less desperate. Perhaps then some of these rovers would settle down to business.

Reports from Dixie land are that there has been a most disastrous frost that has killed vegetation. Perhaps the poor Cardinal bird that arrived here Tuesday thought it would be warmer in the northern country than at home, so took wing northward.

Janesville authorities do not intend to permit "the old time Red Light district" to re-open, even on suspicion, and the quicker some of the lawless element discover this the better.

This mid-year promotion of pupils in the various schools has brought joy to many a youngster who feel "years older" since Monday's lists were read. It is an incentive to better school work, too.

Peace with honor is all right—it is beyond price. Peace with dishonor is not purchasable at any price. There should be no mistake in this matter and all Americans should understand it.

Evidently the days of the sedition laws are not ended when a foreigner who makes deprecating remarks against this country can be arrested and locked up until he repents and agrees to be good in the future.

FROM WHAT ROCK COUNTY HAS SEEN OF THE SAMPLES OF ALASKAN BLIZZARDS AND SUBZERO TEMPERATURES, IT IS INSANELY JEALOUS OF THE FROZEN NORTH OR EVEN MEDICINE HAT.

PERSONAL SERVICE FOR ONE'S COUNTRY IS THE SERVICE THAT COUNTS AT A TIME LIKE THIS. NOT MERE WORDS, BUT ACTIONS.

St. Paul's ice carnival received a frosty reception only from the weather man for the public seemed to enjoy the zero weather he handed out.

The Daily Novelette

WRITTEN TO ORDER.

The famous theatrical producer, Fuller Bunk, paused in his great work.

"I've thought of names for my new west melodrama and all the posters are ordered. Now the next thing to do is to find some well-educated, bang-up book dramatist to write plays to fit these lovely titles and pictures."

At this moment, he happened to glance out of the window and see a well-known dramatist enter an automobile and alight in the room.

"There's my man! When last I saw him dining, he was in the diamond room of Delmonico-Scoops. He's down and out now and ready to work for a new scene."

Having whistled for the poor gink to come over, which he did, Fuller Bunk got busy.

"I have twenty-three large posters that are paid to write plays to fit. This drawing is a thrilling scene taken on the lower floor of an African cheese mine. See? The heroine with a turned-up nose says, 'Cheese it!'"

So much for play No. 1.

Now Play No. 2 will fit this sketch of the big blonde that has been hanging in a well for three rainy days, and the hero rushes in the niceline—then a tick o' time and saves her.

FOUR U. W. STUDENTS AS MARINE OFFICERS

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., Feb. 7.—Because its military department ranks in the highest class, four students who will graduate next June from the University of Wisconsin and have had the regular course in military instruction may be appointed officers in the United States marine corps, according to notice just received from the major general commandant of the United States marine corps.

The opportunity for students from military colleges and universities whose military departments are ranked as "distinguished" to receive appointments to the marine corps comes as a result of the naval appropriation bill of last August, which provided that the corps should be increased by 225 officers besides the increase in enlisted men. A number of these additional appointments have been made, but there are still about 130 vacancies to be filled.

So that a large number of these vacancies may be filled by the appointment of graduates from the distinguished colleges, the presidents of these colleges have been asked to recommend at least four students each. The students will appear before the board of officers to be recommended to a rigid physical examination, but they will be exempted from scholastic examination. The candidates must be between the ages of 20 and 23 years, and the recommendations must be made by April.

The officers and enlisted men in the marine corps will be stationed on battleships and armed cruisers in active service. The pay and allowance of the officers of the marine corps are the same as those, grade for grade, as the officers of the infantry of the army. Officers of the infantry will receive $1,700 a year and his light, heat and quarters.

The marine corps, since it has been increased by the naval appropriation bill now consists of 14,981 enlisted men, 49 warrant officers, and 597 commissioned officers. Of the officers, 9 are for duty with the adjutant and quartermaster departments, 20 for duty with the quartermaster's department, and 9 for duty with the paymaster's department. The head of each staff department has the rank of a brigadier general while serving.

THE WHATCHAMA COLUMN

Garlic.
A friend of ours named Schultz asks us what we think of garlic. We don't think of garlic, if we can help it.
Onions are bad enough, but garlic is a demoralized onion.
Garlic originated with the pirates who sailed the Spanish main. Knives, daggers, blunderbusses and other deadly weapons were common to them.
Garlic in the rough looks like a tulip bulb and smells like an Italian picnic. It is strung up in bunches in front of grocery stores. People who eat it ought to be a little.
A little garlic goes a long way. Especially in a crowded streetcar.

WISCONSIN CAN MOVE FORTY-FIVE HUNDRED MEN

Troops Can Be Centered at Given Point Within Forty-eight Hours Says Holway.

Wisconsin is prepared to mobilize its national guard at a given point within forty-eight hours, Adjutant General Orlando Holway, head of the Wisconsin National Guard, said today, discussing the probability of the state guardsmen being called out in case of war with Germany.

"Just now we have about three thousand men in the state militia, not on the border," said Holway, "but we have about four thousand five hundred soldiers in the state."

"This does not mean that I have any reason to believe the troops will be called out. It just means that we are ready at any time."

Holway has prepared a train schedule to be used in case the troops are called out. It is altogether different than the present train schedule of railroads operating in Wisconsin. Holway's schedule provides for special trains in case of mobilization of Wisconsin troops. Holway believes that the mobilization point would be at Fort Ogden, Georgia, or somewhere along the Virginia coast.

ASK JANESVILLE MEN TO ATTEND CONGRESS

A. H. Melville Extended Invitation to Commercial Gathering at Madison Feb. 20 to 22.

At the annual meeting of the Commercial Club of Madison on Monday evening, A. H. Melville of the university civic and community bureau, who was the speaker of the evening, took occasion to extend a special invitation to the business men of Janesville to attend the second Wisconsin Commercial and Industrial Congress, which will be held at Madison on Feb. 20 to 22, under the auspices of the University of Wisconsin. Mr. Melville urged that a large delegation of business men attend from this city, as some of the leading men of the country in commercial club work are scheduled to appear on the program.

The Wisconsin Association of Commercial Secretaries will hold their annual meeting at Madison during this gathering, and efforts are being made to secure a full attendance.

Election of officers will be held at this meeting. A. L. Sommers, secretary of the Association of Commercial Secretaries, and Robert L. Frost, assistant secretary of the Merchants and Manufacturers' Association of Milwaukee, is secretary.

J. M. Guild, executive secretary of the Greater Dayton association, Dayton, Ohio, will be one of the principal speakers at this annual meeting.

FOGARTY AND YOUNG IN BASKETBALL TRIP

On the Spur of the Moment

ROY K. MOULTON

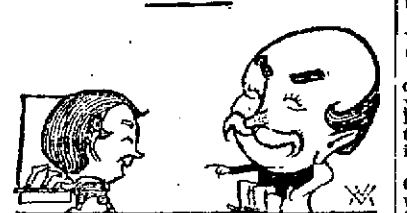

To The Poem.
Go, little verse, and wish to all who'll hear
A Christmas Day of happiness and cheer.
Though 't is a thing ill-fashioned,
Still, you can try.

You need but have this little line in your
"I wish you all much cheer today, I do
And so you have! For such a little verse
You might do worse.

Happy Thought.
The eggnut and the yeggnut are getting to seem as much alike as they sound.

Good Dope.
The wonders of the world, the freaks,
Are few, perhaps, and scarce,
Rare, the man who rather speaks
Less than he ought, than more.

Bright Sayings of Children.
Little Gracie, aged four, was visiting her aunt. "What is your papa doing these days, Gracie?" asked aunt. "He's doing thirty days," said the child. "No," asked little Luke, three years old, "can I rub a hot iron over your head?" She swallowed the beeswax. "Everything's all upside down at our house," said little Dan, only four years old. "The kettle sings and the canary has boils."

When from off "the window" still
Arthur shaved his sister kid,

Whitewater News

Whitewater, Feb. 7.—The fire department was called to the home of William Godfrey yesterday afternoon to put out a fire in his chicken house. One part of the structure was used to smoke hams and while doing so yesterday the house caught from a spark. The run was a long one, as Mr. Godfrey lives on the outskirts of the city and much hose was laid from the hydrant to the house.

The fire was discovered Sunday in the Dunham and Fiske machine shop and was put out with several pails of water. The timely appearance of Mr. Blake saved the firemen from fighting a blaze in severe weather.

SERVICE ON BORDER PUTS STATE GUARDS EQUAL TO REGULARS

Chaplain Sterns of First Wisconsin Regiment Pays High Tribute to Efficiency of Badger Soldiers.

Seven months of training in the border mobilization campaign has placed the state militia on a plane of efficiency with the regular army of the United States, as far as physical condition and military training are concerned, declared Chaplain Sterns, First Regiment Wisconsin National Guards, in an address Tuesday evening before the men's club of the Baptist church. Dr. Philip Watkins, of this city, who served with Company A introduced Chaplain Sterns, following the monthly banquet of the club.

The chaplain paid high tribute to the loyalty, gentlemanly conduct and behavior of the Wisconsin boys. "I believe it would be impossible to find 1,300 men, take them from colleges and universities, from the farms or from business, who could make a better record under similar circumstances," he declared.

Chaplain Sterns was particularly pleased to relate the cordial welcome which was accorded the Wisconsin regiments at New Braunfels and Austin, and called attention to the high endorsement of their conduct given by the mayor of New Braunfels, and the requests from several Texas cities that if guardsmen were to be stationed near their limits the Badger regiments be the ones to be stationed.

Mr. Sterns mentioned several beneficial results of the mobilization. First, he declared, it improved the physical condition and efficiency of the men. Second, it prevented further raids of Mexican bandits over the nation's southern boundary during the period of concentration, and third, it served to cement more firmly the friendship of the north and south.

Dwelling especially on the latter point, the speaker pictured in graphic manner the reception accorded the guardsmen upon their arrival in Austin after the famous Austin hike. Anxious to display their patriotism and loyalty, the old soldiers extended and loyal men from the northern and southern states, every guardsman being stirred by the conception of patriotism and a community of purpose.

Detailing some of his experiences as an army chaplain, Mr. Sterns gave credit to the men of his regiment for the courteous manner in which they treated him, and declared as his belief that more of the men attended the regimental and church services while in Camp Wilson than ever attended devotions while at home. The religious services of the regiment were entirely non-sectarian and were held at hours which would not interfere with the boys attending churches of their own denomination in San Antonio.

Chaplain Sterns urged each man to attend his own church each Sunday in addition to the services of the regiment, which were held in open air. The boys attended the army services without thought of denomination. The first regiment was particularly proud of its choir, composed of thirty-five voices, all of them Polish Catholics.

Although ranked as a first lieutenant on the colonel's staff, and provided with a horse, Chaplain Sterns declared it pleased him to share as much as the old soldiers, such as they were, of the privates and it served to bring him closer to the boys, winning their respect and admiration when it was found that he slept on a cot without a mattress, suffered as much from "chigger" bites, ate the same food as they did while on the march, and in other ways shared with them the inconveniences of army camp life.

SENATE ACTS WHILE ASSEMBLY STILL BALKS

President in the belief that he would keep this country out of war. I do not oppose a resolution, but I see little reason for passing it."

Just at this point, Speaker Whitte announced that he had been informed that the senate had passed the Encke bill on this subject. Assemblyman W. L. Smith of Milwaukee then moved that further consideration of the matter be laid at the foot of the calendar, and the resolutions could be taken up at one time.

Assemblyman Donnelly of Milwaukee objected. By a vote of 65 to 20 the resolutions were laid at the foot of the calendar.

At the opening of the session this morning, Assemblyman Carl Hansen obtained unanimous consent to withdraw his bill which would increase the poll tax in Wisconsin. He served notice that he would only remain with the legislature this year a reasonable length of time, and did not intend to stand for delaying legislative procedure.

New Bills Presented. New bills offered in assembly were: Otto—Fixing cause for which a divorce may be adjudged.

Eberson—Cattle owners shall pay for damage to crops which are conducted by department of agriculture at the request of the owner. Nothing in the act shall be construed to prohibit the use of milk from cows known as reactors.

Everett—Providing a new rule for distribution of public utility taxes in excess of one No. 1 of more assessments.

Rogers—Providing for transportation of school children.

Young—Providing for the employment of public nurses and the payment of them by the towns, villages and cities.

Smith, Milwaukee—Providing a smaller mesh in gill nets.

Gordon—Providing for the establishment of a municipal loan department.

Statute relating to the size of lights on motor vehicles.

The assembly adopted a resolution of sympathy for Assemblyman Connor of Douglas county on the death of his mother.

Schaeffle Returns. Speaker Whitte made a statement in explanation of the resignation filed by Assemblyman Frank Schaeffle of Buffalo county, who gave up his seat on account of illness. The speaker said that Mr. Schaeffle desired to reconsider his resignation, and the matter had been left to the attorney general for an opinion as to whether the resignation could be withdrawn. Attorney General Owen held the house could judge the qualifications of its own members.

Assemblyman Everett moved that Mr. Schaeffle be authorized to withdraw his resignation. The motion carried. Mr. Schaeffle made a short address when he took his seat.

Although the galleries remained expectant until noon in the assembly chamber, they were disappointed, for the assembly took up under its regular order of business the revision of the statute which has already passed the senate.

Assemblyman Turner of Milwaukee offered an amendment which would increase the salary of the members of the legislative body for service on committees.

Assemblyman Spoor said that everybody knew that the members received scarcely, at the present time, enough to pay their board, and he was going to vote for the amendment.

Everyday Wisdom

By DON HEROLD

YES I WILL NO I WON'T YES I WILL NO I WON'T

It is a great nuisance to have a dictionary around. The temptation to look up words is so great. We find that when the dictionary is over at one of the neighbors, we go right through life taking words pretty much as they come and spelling words with a good deal of abandon, and getting along without the dictionary pretty well. There are not so many hitches in our life. We pass pleasantly through life, but when we read, we are so happy ignoring the words that mean nothing to us. And if we have a letter or some little thing to write, we dash over orthographical precepts without thinking, and usually land right side up.

But if there is a dictionary at our elbow, all is different.

The world becomes a world of words. Nothing gets split up into syllables. Instead of being a bunch of haphazard words, it becomes a mass of thought. In books or magazines, new words pop up and sting the conscience, and we may read on a couple of lines past, but conscience hauls us back and makes us trace those words to their Latin lairs.

When a dictionary is around, there is too much meaning in the world. If our house ever burns down, we know the last thing we'll rescue.

Machine Gets Away From Him for Moment and Wreck Occurs—Unconscious When Picked Up.

L. A. Babcock, 415 North Bluff street, narrowly averted serious injury near the New Doty Works on North Main street last night when he momentarily lost control of the steering wheel of his automobile.

Mr. Babcock was pinned underneath and was rendered unconscious.

A Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway switch crew working nearby heard the crash and came to his assistance. They lifted off the wrecked car and summoned physicians. The man was later removed to his home.

From there today it is reported that he is resting easily. He has a number of bad lacerations and numerous painful bruises, and one shoulder is badly wrenched.

PROMINENT DELAVAN MAN SUFFERS AT HIS HOME AFTER ILLNESS OF WEEK

Delavan, Feb. 7.—The death of Charles Besecker, a resident of Delavan for thirty years and just recently retired from the Reed Ice Cream company, occurred last evening after a week's illness. He was sixty-two years of age.

The funeral will be held at two o'clock Thursday afternoon from the home at 611 Walworth avenue, the Rev. L. G. Kieser of the First Congregational church officiating. Interment will be made in the mausoleum in the Spring Grove cemetery.

Mr. Besecker was a prominent citizen of Delavan for years. He had the interests of the community at heart and did much for the advancement of the city in divers ways. He was a native of Pennsylvania and was born July 9, 1855.

He is survived by his widow and two brothers, one living in Iowa, who will be unable to get here for the funeral and Frank Besecker of Chester, Va.

Clyde Gets a Letter From a Fraternity Brother at Harvard.

"You brought me something nice," coming into her room with a package in her hand. Her devotion to the little brother had quite won the young man's heart. Julie had grown up since she had been home.

"I made it all myself," continued the girl, and she removed the swatches from the dish. "There!" She held up the glass dish filled with a frothy, creamy substance. "Nurse said I could give it to you. I asked her. Do you want it now?"

They would rather see me to a shadow if it were not for this," was the cheerful answer. "It's a puff of wind blown up with the white of an egg, isn't it?"

She administered homeopathic doses of the dainty. "It is the kind of thing they keep me alive on," he murmured between mouthfuls.

"What do you want them to give you, baked beans?" asked his sister sarcastically.

"Now you have said it. I am from Boston, you know, and I know good beans when I see them. I'll give you some when the nurse says you can eat them," promised Julie.

"When they are going to let you come home," she added.

"I asked the doctor how long I was to be here. He said he didn't know, but just where he wanted me and did not propose to have any changes made. He said the word. He is a pleasant fellow, but he is a doctor, and he knows his business."

"The smell of food revives me," Clyde lay back on the pillow, contentedly.

"Shall I read to you?" asked the girl.

"No, Mrs. Gerard reads to me every day. I would rather hear you chatter," said Clyde.

"Oh, not desperately jealous, only a little," said Julie.

HEALTH TALKS

By WILLIAM BRADY, M. D.

BURSITIS.

A bursa is a protective sac over a bony prominence, such as the prominence of the elbow, or of the knee, or of the head of the metatarsal bone, or of the great toe joint (bunion). Some bursae are more deeply seated, between the bones, and some are more superficial, over the bones. A bursa may be inflamed from injury, undue or prolonged pressure, or from infection.

Housemaid's knee, for instance, is a bursa, but a pre-patellar bursitis, or a painful swelling on the point of the knee.

Another bursa over the shin bone, or over the point of the knee is frequently inflamed and perhaps in some cases chronically, which leaves the knee going with a creaking sound, and is called "pneumatism."

Inflammation of a bursa over the tip of the elbow is frequent in miners and is called "miner's elbow."

A bursa under the knee-cap is sometimes inflamed in football players from excessive kicking.

A small bursa under the deltoid muscle, immediately below the shoulder joint, is frequently inflamed when the arm is raised, and is called "shoulder bursitis." It is so deep that it produces no external swelling, but is detected by pressure from a finger or the thumb. It is the only prominence of the shoulder.

Inflammation of the bursa under the elbow, Achilles is sometimes seen in gymnasts and hikers—swollen inflamed bursa.

Older people who sit cross-legged sometimes have inflammation of the bursa over the bony prominence of the outer knee.

Finally, women who wear pointed shoes and men who affect lady-like gait are likely to develop bursitis over the great toe joint, which is the point of contact of the foot with the shoe. It may be acute or chronic. In either case the pain is severe as the shoe is worn, and the stiffness may be the only complaint in some of the very

Heart and Home Problems

By Mrs. Elizabeth Thompson. Letters may be addressed to Mrs. Thompson, in care of The Gazette.

Mrs. Thompson: From the letter I was furnished until I was fourteen years old I kept company with a young man. But a year ago my own dear friend, a young man who was a very nice fellow, came to town for a summer vacation and she has kept company with him ever since.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) We are two girls, eighteen years old, who are going to a dance without being accompanied by boy friends.

(2) Do you think we are too young to go to a show with a boy friend? If we are not, how late should we stay out?

(3) Do you think it improper for three or four couples to go to a home in a boy?

(4) Do you think it would be acting forward, if you, as a girl, addressed a young man on a slip of paper to drop him a card?

(5) Do you think it all right to receive a present from a boy, if you have been going around with him for a short time?

(6) It is not proper.

(7) You are old enough to go to a show. Return home as soon as it is over.

(8) It is proper if there is a chaperone.

(9) Yes, it would be.

(10) It is all right if it is flowers, candy, or book or something equally impersonal.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: I had a date with a boy, but he did not come. He had been out of town and just returned.

(1) Why do you suppose he did this?

(2) Shall I write to him and have him explain or wait until I see him?

MUST HAVE BETTER PAY FOR TEACHERS - VAN HISE INFORMS

Madison, Wis., Feb. 7.—President Charles I. Van Hise of the university told the joint finance committee of the legislature late yesterday afternoon that the university was in danger of deterioration by losing some of its best men because of the fact that increases in salary were necessary to hold them.

Only over the question of salary increases and of land and building expenditures were there any differences between the recommendations of the state board of education and the recommendations of the legislature. The salary increase appeared to be the most troublesome one.

The meeting of the committee was considered of such importance that the hearing of the university requests was listened to by Governor Phillips. He came direct from the executive office at two o'clock and remained at the committee meeting throughout the afternoon.

An explanation of the university budget was made by Dr. B. R. Buckingham, head of the state board of education. He said that the accounts of operation and maintenance outside of salary had been practically agreed upon between the board and the university regents. In the original budget, the state board of education had made no recommendation regarding capital expenditures. Recently, however, the board had recommended $50,000 for the first year, and $15,000 for the second year, the money to be used largely in land purchases. Dr. Buckingham declared that the principal reason for the increase in salary was that the university was over salary increases, the university asking for about $50,000 for the first year, and over $60,000 for the second year.

A university can succeed in maintaining its rank only if it makes the conditions of work and especially the opportunities to do the work in a manner in which the men believe in the creditable and in a way that interests them, that the staff can be maintained," declared President Van Hise.

In short, the competitive conditions obtained in the university precisely as it does in business. If, at this time when salaries for the higher places are one thousand dollars lower than elsewhere, the university is to be maintained, it is proposed to introduce conditions which are less favorable than those which obtain in other universities, but one result can follow, and that is, that the process of losing better men without being able to replace them with men of similar ability, will go on with increasing acceleration. It will not be long before a large number of our best men, those with inspiring qualities, will be gone and the mediocre men who do not have offers to go elsewhere will remain. In short, it will result in destroying the quality of the university. Instead of our having a leading position among the universities, we will become a trailer among universities of the second rank so far, at least, as quality of our work is concerned."

President Van Hise recited the list of names of men who had left the university in destroying the quality of the university. He said that the law school was having difficulty to maintain its staff at a high standard.

"If this is not feasible then most earnestly urge, that since the board of education have recommended amounts to the lowest possible basis without allowing any abnormal increments, that a sufficient amount be added to at least make exceptional recognition in emergency cases which will arise in other cases of equal merit, in order that during the coming two years there shall not be serious losses from the faculty, such as have occurred during the past two years."

It is difficult to estimate the amount of money which will be required for exceptional advances to the best men, but if $20,000 a year were furnished for the biennium, there would be a long way toward dissipating a present deep dissatisfaction and restoring content.

For three years there have been disturbed and unsettled conditions in the university. What is now needed is a period of quiet and encouragement. If funds could be furnished by legislature to make special recognition in cases of exceptional merit, this would indeed be very helpful in restoring the university from deterioration.

In conclusion I ask the finance committee to take no action at this time which will result in the deterioration of the university. For the regents, the educational officers, and many of our faculty have freely given their best even to sacrifice of their

PET ECONOMIES.

"I have often noticed that almost everyone has his individual small economies—careful habits of saving fractions of pennies in some one particular direction—any disturbance of which annoys him more than spending large sums of money on some real extravagance."—Mrs. Gaskell.

What is your economy? Once on a time when I was visiting some relatives, the man of the house discovered that the handle had been broken off the dust pan. He was highly indignant.

"You'll never be able to get any where," he said, "when you break everything you have, like that."

Things do wear out sometimes. "My dear," said his wife mildly, "we've had that dustpan almost twenty years and it's worn out. Things do sometimes."

"They don't get a chance to in this house," he retorted, departing in a dudgeon.

"That's his one economy," he said. "That's his one economy—he can't bear to have things like that wear out. And yet you know how open handed he is in most things."

He is too generous both to himself and his family.

The Hardest Thing I do is Save Economy is not at all in my line. But there is one thing I cannot bear to buy—hairpins. I simply grudge the money spent that way and will stint myself outrageously. I sometimes have to march myself up to the counter two or three times before I can get myself to buy them. Saving seems to be a favorite hobby of mine. I know several people who cannot bear to see the knot cut instead of laboriously untied. And yet if one cuts carefully one loses only a few inches of string. Surely anyone's time is worth that much.

A literary friend tells me that though rubber bands are very useful to him and he eagerly saves all he gets, he cannot bear to buy them. Someone once gave him a handy box with two boxes of rubber bands in it among other things, and he says he never felt richer with any gift.

What Bothered Him More Than Losing Money. The quotation above is the introduction to some delightful reminiscences on this subject. One of the most amusing is this:

"An old gentleman of my acquaintance who took the intelligence of his money was invested with stoical mildness, worried his family through a long summer's day, because one of them had torn (instead of cutting) out the written leaves of his now useless bankbook; of course the corresponding pages at the other end came the as well, and this little unnecessary waste of paper (his private economy) chafed him more than all the loss of his money."

What a miser pet economy. Tell us, readers, and maybe we'll have a symposium.

personal interests, because they love the university, because they have deeply at heart the welfare of this state.

"I appeal to the finance committee to approve estimates for the university in a form so that during the coming biennium it may perform, at least, as large a service and on as high a plane as during the past biennium, and decline to take any action which would tend to hamper the institution as a university, so carefully built up under great difficulties during the past thirty-five years."

ENGLISH GIRL PUFFS

"PILL" MID POWDER

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Birmingham, Eng., Feb. 7.—The lives of eight hundred people in a factory near Birmingham were endangered by a girl's love for cigarette smoking, according to charges brought by the government in a trial just concluded here. The girl, Gladys Farr, was fine 10 pounds and received the maximum sentence of three months in prison for the offense.

It was explained that Miss Farr was employed in the fuse huts at a big munition factory. In these huts there was a large quantity of open powder. The huts were perhaps the most dangerous section of the factory's "dangerous area." Owing to the large amount of powder about, the atmosphere itself was highly explosive.

Miss Farr was seen to strike a match on one of the fuse cases, and to attempt to light a cigarette. Another girl knocked the match out of her hand. She told the court that she lighted the match without thinking what she was doing.

GINGLES' JINGLES

THE NIGHT CLERK.

It was early in the morning when the knock came to the door, and the stern command, "Get up, turn on the light," was the night clerk of the Park hotel who broke in on our snore, putting over stunts like that is his delight. Pleasant? Yes, he's always pleasant, and his voice while soft and low, at four-thirty in the morning is no treat, sounding nothing as it did, when we doffed our tucky lid, and enrolled our name upon the hash-house sheet. But we knew we'd have to face it, there was no hope of relief, our decision had been made and we were called. It was up to us to get in gear, our time we knew was brief, if we missed the train, it meant that we'd be stalled. So we answered, "Yes," turned on the light, got busy as a bug, we just threw our clutch in high, dressed, and for a bite did fly, soon was sandwiched in the bus some tight and snug. Twelve fat salmon in did crawl, well-fed babies, each and all, and one shouted, "shy on room, for more we fear." Then the landlord did declare, "seventeen we've had in there," "bet," said one, "that bunch was regular board."—Linn K. Single.

YOUNG ORPHAN GIRL

How She Was Cured. Had Headaches, Dizzy Spells, Awful Pains, Could Not Work.

Pittsburgh, Pa.—"I am an orphan girl, and when only seventeen years old had to support myself, but I would have such sick spells every month that I would have to stay at home from work, and I could not afford to do it. I also had headaches, dizzy spells and a pain in my side. My sister told me how much Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had helped her, so I began taking it. The result is I am now in good health and never lose a day from my work, and you may publish my letter to show other girls the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will do." — Miss MARGIE SCHMELTZ, 34 Gardner St., Troy Hill, N. S., Pittsburgh, Pa.

This good old root and herb remedy has proved unequalled for periodical suffering of young women; it contains what is needed to restore healthful conditions.

Write the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass., for free advice if you need it.

For Skin Blisters

There is one remedy that seldom fails to clear away the pimples, blotches and other skin eruptions and that makes the skin soft, clear and healthy.

Any druggist can supply you with zemo, which generally overcomes all skin diseases. Acne, eczema, itch, pimples, rashes, black heads in most cases give way to zemo. Frequently, minor blemishes disappear overnight. Itching usually stops instantly. Zemo is a safe, antiseptic liquid, clean, easy to use and dependable. It costs only 5c. an extra large bottle $1.00. It will not stain, is not greasy or sticky and is positively safe for tender, sensitive skins.

BACKACHE IS DISCOURAGING

But Not So Bad if You Know How to Reach the Cause.

Nothing more discouraging than a constant backache. Lame when you awaken, pains pierce you when you bend or stoop. It's hard to work or to rest. Backache often indicates bad kidneys. Janesville people recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. Read this case:

Mrs. Otto Bork, 218 Galena St., Janesville, Wis., says: "Every once in awhile I suffered from attacks of backache. It hurt me to lift anything and I had headaches and nervous spells. Doan's Kidney Pills did me a great deal of good. The nervous spells left and I was rid of the backache and pains through my kidneys." Price 50c. at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Bork had. Foster-McMillan Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

Resinol

itching skins

When you know physicians have prescribed Resinol for 20 years in the treatment of itching, burning, unsightly skin eruptions, and have written thousands of reports such as: "It is my regular prescription for itching," "Resinol has produced brilliant results," and "The result it gave was marvelous in one of the worst cases of eczema," doesn't it make you say to yourself, "That's the right kind of treatment for my skin-trouble?" Resinol is sold by all druggists.

DON'T SUFFER WITH NEURALGIA

Musterole Gives Delicious Comfort

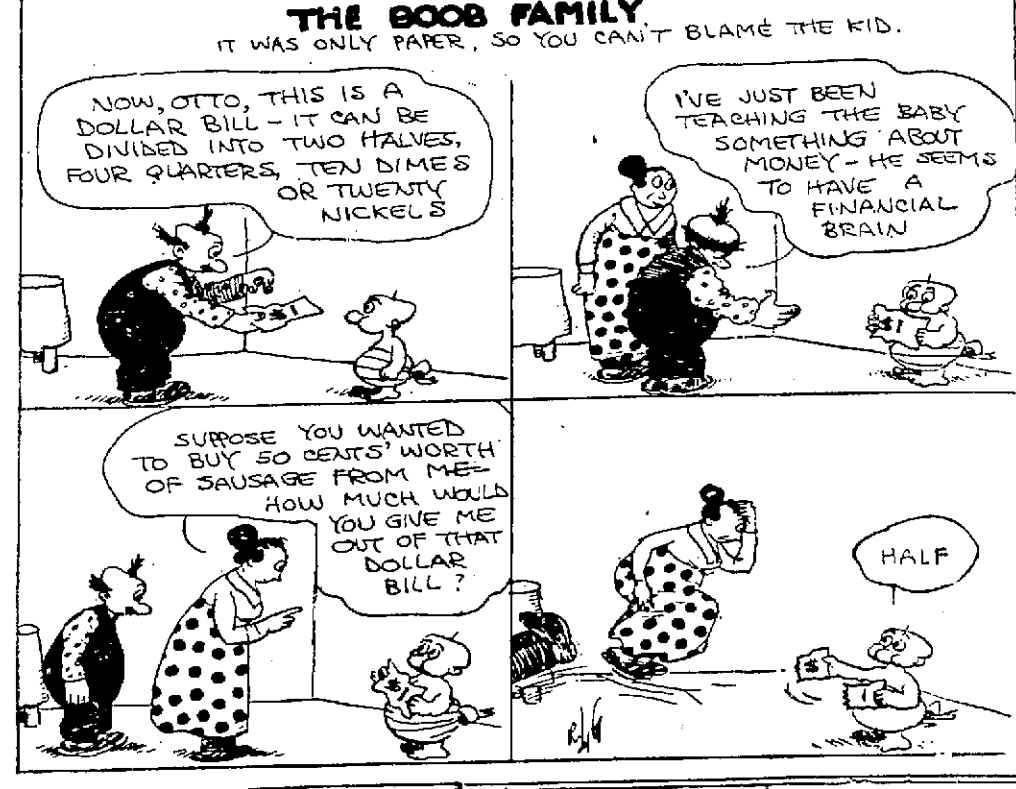

When those sharp pains go shooting through your head, when your skull seems as if it would split, just rub a little Musterole on the temples and neck. It draws out the inflammation, soothes away the pain, usually giving quick relief.

Musterole is a clean, white ointment, made with oil of mustard. Better than a mustard plaster and does not blister.

Many doctors and nurses frankly recommend Musterole for sore throat, bronchitis, croup, stiff neck, asthma, neuralgia, congestion, pleurisy, rheumatism, lumbago, pains and aches of the back or joints, sprains, sore muscles, bruises, chilblains, frosted feet—colds of the chest (it often prevents pneumonia). It is always dependable.

Nan of Music Mountain

By FRANK H. SPEARMAN
Author of "WHISPERING SMITH"

(Copyright by Charles Scribner's Sons)

"How dare you say such a thing! One of those women was at the hospital—she is there yet, and she is going to die there. She told Uncle Duke's nurse the men they knew, and when they didn't know, at that place. And Henry de Spain, when he heard this miserable creature had been taken to the hospital, and Doctor Torpy said she could never get well, told the sister to take care of her and send the bills to him, because he knew her father and mother in Medicine Bend and went to school with her there when she was a decent girl. Go and hear what she has to say about Henry de Spain, you contemptible falsifier!"

Gale laughed scornfully. "That's right. I like to see a girl stick to her friends. De Spain ought to take care of her, food story."

"And she has other good stories, too, you ought to hear," continued Nan undismayed. "Most of them about you and your fine friends in town. She told the nurse it's you who ought to be paying her bills till she dies."

Gale made a disclaiming face and a deprecating gesture. "No, no, Nan—let De Spain take care of his own. Be a sport yourself, girl, right now. He stepped nearer her. Nan retreated.

"Keep Away!" She Cried.

"Kiss and make up," he exclaimed with a laugh. But she knew he was angry, and knew what to guard against. Still laughing, he sprang toward her and tried to catch her arm.

"Don't touch me!" she cried, jumping away with her hand in her blouse. "You little vixen," he exclaimed with an oath. "What have you got there?" But he halted at her gesture, and Nan, pausing, stood her ground.

"Keep away!" she cried.

"Where did you get that knife?" thundered Gale.

"From one who showed me how to use it on a coward!"

He affected amusement and tried to pass the incident off as a joke. But his dissimulation was more dangerous, she knew, than his brutality, and he left her the prey to more than one alarm and the renewed resolve never to be taken off her guard. That night he came back. He told her uncle, glancing admiringly at Nan as he recounted the story, how she had stood her ground against him in the morning.

Nor did Nan like the way her uncle acted while he listened—and afterward. He talked a good deal about Gale and the way she was treating her cousin. When Nan declared she never would have anything to do with him, her uncle told her with disconcerting bluntness to get all that out of her head, for she was going to marry him.

When she protested she never would, Duke told her, with many harsh oaths, that she should never marry De Spain even if he had to kill him or get killed to stop it, and that if she had any sense she would get ready to marry her cousin peaceably, adding, that if she didn't have sense, he would see himself it was provided for her.

His threats left Nan agitated. For two days she thought them all over. Then she dressed to go to town. On her way to the barn her uncle intercepted her. "Where you going?"

"To Sleepy Car," returned Nan, regarding him coldly.

"No, you're not," he announced bluntly.

Nan looked at him in silence. "I don't want you running to town any more to meet De Spain," added Duke, without any attempt to soften his injunction.

"But I've got to go to town once in a while, whether I meet Henry de Spain or not, Uncle Duke."

"What do you have to go for?"

"Why, for mail, supplies—everything."

"Paradise can attend to all that."

Nan shook her head. "Whether he can or not, I'm not going to be cut off from going to Sleepy Car, Uncle Duke—nor from seeing Henry de Spain."

"Meaning to say you won't obey, eh?"

"When I'm going to marry a man it isn't right to forbid me seeing him."

"You're not going to marry him; you're going to marry Gale, and the quicker you make up your mind to it the better."

"You might better tell me I am going to marry Bill Page—I would marry him first. I will never marry Gale Morgan in the living world, and I've told you so more than once."

He regarded his niece a moment wrathfully and, without replying, walked back to the house. Nan, upset but resolute, went on to the barn and asked Paradise to saddle her pony. Paradise shuffled around in an obliging way, but at the end of some evasion admitted he had orders not to do it. Nan flamed at the information. She disliked Paradise anyway, not for any reason she could assign beyond the fact that he had once been a chum of Gale's. But she was too high-spirited to dispute with him, and returned to the house pink with indignation. Going straight to her uncle, she protested against such tyranny. Duke was insensible alike to her pleas and her threats.

But next morning Nan was up at three o'clock. She made her way into the barn before a soul was stirring, and at daybreak was well on her way to Sleepy Car. She telephoned to De Spain's office from the hospital and went to breakfast. De Spain joined her before she had finished, and when they left the dining room she explained why she had disappointed him the day before. He heard the story with misgivings.

"I'll tell you how it looks to me, Nan," he said when she had done. "You are like a person that's being bound tighter every day by invisible cords. You don't see them because you are fearless. You are too fearless, Nan," he added, with apprehension reflected in the expression of his face. "I'll tell you what I wish you'd do, and I say it knowing you won't do it," he concluded.

She made light of his fears, twisting his right hand till it was helpless in her two hands and laughing at him. "How do you know I won't do it?"

"Because I've asked you before. This is it: Marry me, now, here, today, and don't take any more chances out there."

"But, Heppie," protested Nan. "I can't marry you now and just run away from poor Uncle Duke. If you will just be patient, I'll bring him around to our side."

"Never, Nan."

"Don't be so sure. I know him better than you do, and when he comes for anybody, he comes all at once. Why, it's funny Henry. Now that I'm picking up courage, you're losing it!"

He shook his head. "I don't like the way things are going."

"Dearie," she urged, "should I be any safer at home if I were your wife, than I am as your sweetheart. I don't want to start a horrible family war by running away, and that is just what I certainly should do."

De Spain was unconvinced. But apprehension is short-lived in young hearts. The sun shone, the sky spread a speckless blue over desert and mountain, the day went to their castles and dreams. In a retired corner of the cool dining room at the Mountain house, they lingered together over a long-drawn-out dinner. The better-informed guests by asides indicated their presence to others. They described them as the hardy couple who had first met in a stiff Frontier day rifle match, which the girl had won. Her defeated rival—the man now most regarded and feared in the mountain country—was the man with the red-tinted mouth, mild eyes, curious birthmark, and with the two little, perplexed wrinkles visible most of the time just between his dark eyebrows, the man listening intently to every syllable that fell from the lips of the trimly bloomed, active girl opposite him, leaning forward in her eagerness to tell him things. Her jacket hung over the back of her chair, and she herself was referred to by the more fanciful as queen of the outlaw camp at Music Mountain.

The two were seen together that day about town by many, for the story of their courtship was still veiled in mystery and afforded ground for the wildest speculation, while that of their difficulties, and such particulars as De Spain's fruitless efforts to conciliate Duke Morgan and Duke's open threats against De Spain's life were widely known. All these details made the movement and the fate of the young couple the object of keenly curious comment.

In the late afternoon the two rode almost the whole length of Main street together on their way to the river bridge. Everyone knew the homeliest of the two—De Spain, a cleaner-lined, harder or faster in the high country. Those that watched them amble slowly past, laughing and talking, intent only on each other, erect, poised and motionless, as if molded to their saddles, often spoke of having seen Nan and her lover that day. It was a long time before they were seen riding down Main street together again.

CHAPTER XXI.

De Spain Worries.

They parted that evening under the shadow of Music Mountain, agreed to meet in Calabasas just as soon as Nan could get away. She hoped, she told him, to bring good news. De Spain arranged his business to wait at Calabasas for her, and was there, after two days, doing little but waiting and listening to McAlpin's stories about the fire, and surmises as to strange

Get at the Real Cause—Take Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That's what thousands of stomach sufferers are doing now. Instead of taking tonics, or trying to patch up a poor digestion, they are attacking the real cause of the ailment—clogged liver and disordered bowels.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets arouse the liver in a soothing, healing way. When the liver and bowels are performing their natural functions, away goes indigestion and stomach troubles.

If you have a bad taste in your mouth, tongue coated, appetite poor, lazy, don't-care feeling, no ambition or energy, troubled with undigested foods, you should take Olive Tablets, the substitute for catmole.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets are a purely vegetable compound mixed with olive oil. You will know them by their olive color. They do the work without gripping, cramps or pain.

men that turned in and about the place. But De Spain, knowing Jeffries was making an independent investigation into the affair, gave no heed to McAlpin's suspicions.

To get away from the barn boss, De Spain took refuge in riding. The sun was drawing on toward winter, and rain clouds drifting at intervals down from the mountains made the saddle a less dependable escape from the monotony of Calabasas. Several days passed with no sight of Nan and no word from her. De Spain, as the hours and days went by, scanned the horizon with increasing solicitude. When he woke on the sixth morning, he was resolved to send a scout into the gap to learn what he could of the situation. The long silence, De Spain knew, portended nothing good. He sent to the stable for Bull Page.

He looked at De Spain tentatively, as if ready either for the discharge with which he was daily threatened or for a renewal of his earlier, friendly relations with the man who had been queer enough to make a place for him. De Spain set Bull down before him in the stuffy little office.

JAPANESE SMELTER HAS TALLEST CHIMNEY

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Tokio, Feb. 7.—Japan will have the tallest chimney in the world. Down on the east coast of Kyushu in the little village of Saginasaki, fifteen miles from Beppu, the great stack which when completed will be twelve feet higher than the Washington monument is gradually building under the superintendence of American engineers and when finished will reach 567 feet up in the sky.

This towering pile is being constructed for the Kubaru Mining Company, which is building a new copper smelter.

The foundation is placed on the top of a hill which rises 430 feet above the level of the sea. From the sea side, counting the altitude of the cliff, there will be an almost straight rise of about 1,300 feet to the summit of the stack.

The construction of the chimney has been planned with a view of giving it special qualities to resist earthquakes. The chimney is now a little past the 300 foot mark and is expected to be completed by March 1. The present highest chimney in the world is at Great Falls, Mont., at a smelter works. Its height is said to be 500 feet as against the 65 of the Washington monument.

MEXICAN COMMANDER OPENS SOLDIERS' STORE

Mexico City, Feb. 7.—General Pablo Gonzales, commanding the division of the east, has established in this city a commissary and store solely for the benefit of his soldiers where they may obtain articles of nearly every description at practically cost price. Similar stores, it is expected, will be established at other points throughout the district occupied by this division. As the Mexican soldiers provide their own food, these stores are expected to aid materially in bettering their condition. Similar commissaries have been established for the benefit of the employees of the department of justice and the department of the interior. Eight stores for the benefit of the general public have also been opened by the government.

PRINCE OF WALES HOME: FIRST REST SINCE SPRING

London Feb. 7.—The vacation which the Prince of Wales is enjoying in London is the first leave of any length that he has had since last spring. Since his previous visit home he has been on service errands to France and Italy and has spent a considerable time in khaki in Egypt.

100 YEARS OLD

"The kidneys play a most important part in causing premature old age and death—the more injurious the poisons passing through the kidneys the sooner comes decay"—so says a distinguished physician, who further advises all people who are past thirty to preserve the vitality of the kidneys and free the blood from poisonous elements, such as uric acid—to drink plenty of pure water—sweat some every day and take Anuric before meals.

This Anuric is put up in tablet form, and can be obtained at almost any drug store. For that backache, lumbago, rheumatism, "rusty" joints, swollen feet and hands, due to uric acid in the blood, you will find Anuric quickly dissolves the uric acid as hot water does sugar. It was discovered by Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y.

Prevent premature old age by taking a little Anuric before meals and live to be a hundred.

Dinner Stories

Andrew Carnegie, at a dinner in New York, said of the war:

"The trouble with the war is its positively infernal cruelty. Some things are cruel on one side and kind on the other, but war is cruel on both sides."

"War reminds me of a butcher whose wife three times in succession ran down people and had to pay damages."

"Well, one day when the lady was out bicycling as usual, a boy came rushing into the butcher shop in great excitement."

"What's the matter?" shouted the butcher. "Has my wife run somebody down again?"

"No," gasped the boy, "she's been run down herself by Banker Wright in his automobile."

"Thank goodness," said the butcher.

MOTHER TELLS HOW VINOL

Made Her Delicate Boy Strong.

New York City.—"My little boy was in a very weak, delicate condition as a result of gastritis and the measles and there seemed no hope of saving his life. The doctor prescribed cod liver oil but he could not take it. I decided to try Vinol—and with splendid results. It seemed to agree with him so that now he is a strong, healthy boy."—Mrs. Thomas Fitzgerald, 1090 Park Ave., N. Y. City.

We guarantee Vinol, which contains beef and cod liver peptones, iron, and manganese peptones and glycerophosphates, for run-down conditions, chronic coughs, colds and bronchitis. Smith Drug Co., Janesville, Wis. Vinol is sold in Brochard by W. J. Smith. Also at the leading drug store in all Wisconsin towns.

KILLS PAIN

The Cause of "Sitting It Out"

Many a girl—pretty, accomplished, a good dancer—finds few partners at a dance.

She wonders why. Bad breath—that's all. You may not realize it, and folks are too polite to tell you. They just stay away. Remove the handicap by using

NOXODO

Cleans the Breath

This is a deodorizer—not a perfume. Eliminates the bad odor—does not simply disguise it.

Cleans and purifies the mouth, giving a wonderfully refreshed feeling. Aids in retarding tooth decay. No matter what the cause, Noxodo relieves all bad breath odors. Test it today!

Dainty little package for lady's hand bag or gentlemen's vest pocket. Ten cents at druggists, candy stores and cigar counters.

BASKETBALL FUND STARTS WITH LEAP; $45 IN ONE CROWD

Gathering of Lakota Club Members Did Down for Big Amount—Everyone Asked for a Little.

Cardinal I. A. C. Games Fund. Lakota club members $45

Members of the Lakota club have taken the lead in raising a purse to send the Cardinals' basketball team to the Chicago I. A. C. central states tournament the week after next and from a group which collected at their rooms last night a total of forty-five dollars was subscribed. Today, as other members of the organization learned of the move, there was a great rush forward to do their bit in getting the fund raised to the amount necessary to cover the expenses of the team.

The raising of the money is not solely a Lakota club proposition and any follower of the team in the city can make his donation. Every little bit helps and no amount is too small. About a dozen of business men and others have stopped Manager George W. Caldwell and have told him that they could be counted on to help. The idea is to take the team to the games under the name of the Janesville Cardinals. As an advertising proposition for Janesville the scheme is good and it is with this purpose in view that the business men are getting behind the raising of the fund.

Many are of the belief that the Cardinals will be able to hold their own with the best teams entered in the games from the central west. The suggestion, "Take the Cards down there and clean up those games" made Saturday night was really a demand. Manager Caldwell and members of the team are in accord with the idea and if the expense account is subscribed they will do their level best to bring home the honors to Janesville, the big goal having out and individual gold medals for the players.

J. Bottoms Kelly, sports editor of the Gazette, is in charge of collecting the purse to send the Cards to Chicago.

BADGERS STILL HOPE FOR BASKET HONORS

Meanwell's Team Have Not Lost Confidence and Will Fight to End.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Madison, Wis., Feb. 7.—The University of Wisconsin basketball team will begin their final dash for the conference title Monday when they clash with Northwestern university of Evanston at Madison. The Badgers must fight an uphill battle if they wish to repeat their win of last year. They have played five games so far this season and have won but three of them, which gives them a poor start. Seven games, however, remain to be played before the season is over, so they still have a chance to climb to the top.

Examinations during the past week kept the men from practicing, but starting today the men will meet twice a day in order to get into condition. Up to the present time none of the veterans have been placed under the faculty ban, although two or three of the men are close to the margin. It was rumored that both Olsen and Carlson, guards, were ineligible, but according to Dr. Meanwell they are still able to play. Madson, one of the substitutes, is the only man on the squad to fall below in his work.

Several shifts are being planned in the lineup to start the second semester games. Dr. Meanwell was very much displeased with the showing against Chicago and has decided to return to the old formation which was used at the first of the year. Olsen and Carlson will play guards with "Burr" Chandler and McIntosh or Meyers at forwards. The graduation of Lewis and the eligibility of Chandler is the only change in the players. Chandler is in the best of condition and is ready to take the veteran's place at forward. McIntosh will return to the center position as his ankle is now strong enough to stand the strain after a two weeks' rest.

BROOKLYN CANCELS DATE WITH CARDS; BUSHEYS TO COME

Two Members of Team Called Back as Naval Militia to Guard Bridges

Spanning East River. The severing of diplomatic relations between the United States and Germany has caused the postponement of the basketball game scheduled for Saturday night between the Brooklyn, New York, five and the Lakota Cardinals. Two members of the eastern team have been recalled for war duty from the central west, through which the five is at present touring. The players are now in service.

Manager James Cook telegraphed Manager George Caldwell of the Cardinals yesterday postponing the game and this morning the latter had a letter of explanation from Cook. Meanwhile the local team's backer was able to secure a date with the Bushey business college team of Appleton, that clever aggregation with which the Cards played a ten to ten tie with three five-minute extra periods early in the season. Although the Busheys had a game scheduled for Saturday night, they canceled this when a fancy offer was given them by the local management.

The Brooklyn guardsmen are with their company, which is patrolling the bridge spanning East river to Williamsburg. To guard against bomb plots, the naval militia of the state of New York has been ordered to patrol the many bridges spanning East river.

WISCONSIN BALL PLAYERS START PRACTICE MONDAY

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.) Madison, Wis., Feb. 7.—Coach "Slim" Lewis will start preliminary practice for the coming baseball season next week. Five regulars from last season's nine will return to take up the game. They are: Captain Fox, catcher; Simpson, first base; Brennan, second base; Reese and Neuen-scanner, outfielders. This will mean that Coach Lewis will have a hard time on his hands in order to secure men to fill the vacant positions. Not one veteran pitcher remains to be the mainstay of the staff. The freshman team of last year was exceptionally strong in the hitting of the game, so Lewis expects to find two or three reliable men. The most promising of these men are Orle, Grasshorn and Scheninger. Cleveland, captain of the freshman team, will be a contender for the shortstop position.

TEN FIGHTERS FIT FOR MILL TONIGHT

Boxing Show Tonight—Weigh in This Afternoon—Promoters See Biggest Crowd of Season.

THE FIVE BOUT CARD

George Adams, Chicago, vs. Young Kick, Rockford; 10 rounds at 118.
Battling Check, Sheboygan, vs. Eddie Harris, Milwaukee; 8 rounds at 128.
Battling Swann, city, vs. Spike Seck, Beloit; 4 rounds at 124.
Kid Nichols, city, vs. Rumor, Rockford; 8 rounds at 128.
Clout Weber, city, vs. Charlie Lyke, La Prairie; 4 rounds at 190.
First bout starts at 8:15.

Before large groups of their personal followers the ten boxers who appear tonight in the third show of the Southern Wisconsin Athletic Association weighed in at Tom Abbott's place at three o'clock this afternoon. All made the pounds stipulated. State Boxing Commission representatives were in charge of the work.

At noon all the out of town fighters had arrived in the city. Each appeared confident and their backers likewise.

A big ticket sale for the exhibition is announced by the promoters. The pastebord found a large demand and they began moving good on Saturday and Sunday. It is expected that the largest attendance to a S. W. A. A. show since the club was organized will be present tonight.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Janesville Daily Gazette, Feb. 7, 1877.—The blue glass fever has struck Janesville in somewhat of a mild form. It is spreading, however. The Milwaukee News speaks of Burr Robbins as living at Madison. The papers tell of a young man in Winnebago county who has a head 38 1/2 inches long, 5 1/2 inches around the neck.

Last evening T. Edler of Milton, a farmer, while coming from the post-office, was attacked by some unknown person, who struck him across the face and head and ran. The affair is

TELLS OF U. S. AID TO ARMENIAN JEWS

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

London, Feb. 7.—George F. Gracey, a member of the American Committee for Armenian and Syrian Relief, who has helped to feed and clothe about 55,000 Armenians in their native land and again when they fled to the Caucasus to escape the Turks, has just returned to London. "Most of this was possible only through the generosity of the American people," declared Mr. Gracey, who is not an American but an Englishman and has been a member of the American committee for the last twelve years. Since the war broke out he has been directing the relief work for the Armenians from Thrace.

"Armenia has replaced Belgium and Serbia as the most disastrous country on the face of the globe," said Mr. Gracey. "The Armenians have twice been driven from their native land. Those who were not massacred when the Turks invaded their country early in the war fled to the Caucasus. They returned when the Russians drove the Turks out of Armenia. They were forced to flee to the Caucasus again a few months ago when the Turks chased the Russians out of Mush and Bitlis, and for a time threatened the czars army at Van, on the west side of the lake of that name."

"When the Armenians were able to return to their country early this year they were without food, clothing or the means of making a living. The American committee came to the rescue by supplying some 20,000 with 2,700 head of cattle and a large quantity of agricultural implements. This work of repatriating them ran along from May to August of this year. Just as they were getting on their feet again and starting out to face life anew along came the reinforced Turks. The Ottoman troops succeeded in taking Mush and Bitlis in the very heart of Armenia. Then they moved along the northern and western shores of Lake Van with the object of encircling the town of Van, which was the basis of the Russian operations in that district. They did not get to Van but clung to the shores of the lake. That is the present military situation in that territory."

"The object of the Russian incursion into Armenia was not only to rescue the Armenians but to establish a line from Trebizond on the Black Sea across the neck of Asia Minor to Aleppo and thus deprive Turkey of the resources of Mesopotamia. These who have followed the course of the war know what has happened. They know that the Russians were only partially successful, that they captured Trebizond, Mush and Bitlis but were unable to extend their line farther south and prevent the automatic loss of the two last named places. "Although the Turks did not retake Van, rumors of their approach struck terror to the hearts of the Armenian refugees who had been chased from their homes a year before. As stated, they fled to the Caucasus once more, taking with them about 25,000 of their countrymen from Mush and Bitlis, so that we are at present confronted with the problem of caring for about 55,000."

Mr. Gracey said he wanted to pay tribute to the American Red Cross in Persia. Its base is at Khoni and a Dr. Hazlett, an American, is in charge.

CONGRESS NOW SILENT ON THE HIGH COST OF LIVING

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Washington, Feb. 7.—The second session of the Sixty-fourth Congress opened with a bang—on the high cost of living.

Indications today are it will close with the soft pedal on that selfsame subject. And nothing done about it. The lawmakers have made no move to disturb the numbers of investigation resolutions introduced on the opening day.

Among those that will probably sleep on right through the closing days of this congress is the one introduced by Representative Boreland of Missouri. It directs the Federal Trade Commission "to investigate and report to Congress the facts relating to the production, marketing, and distribution of food products together with any violation of the anti-trust laws in connection therewith, and recommendations for greater economy and efficiency in the marketing of food products and the punishment and prevention of extortion in the prices thereof."
